Figure 1 displays a series of 100 small grayscale images arranged in a 10x10 grid, illustrating the development of a chick embryo from fertilization to hatching. The images are labeled with numbers 1 through 100, indicating the sequence of development. The images show the progression from a single cell to a fully formed embryo with visible features like the head, body, and legs.

Defenred leftist candidate plans legal challenge in election standoff

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A leftist candidate for president in Mexico's July 2 election plans to challenge the results in court if he loses, a move that could lead to a runoff election. The candidate, Andres Bello, is a member of the National Action Party (PAN), which is the main opposition to the ruling Institutional Revolutionary Party (PRI). Bello is a former member of the PRI and has been a vocal critic of the party's long-standing dominance in Mexican politics. He is running against the PRI's candidate, Roberto Abascal, who is a former member of the PRI and has been a vocal critic of the party's long-standing dominance in Mexican politics. ## Sudan deemed most dangerous place in world for children

By Philip Hocking
SUDAN (AP) — The United Nations has named Sudan the most dangerous place in the world for children. The report, released in July 2004, is the first time the UN has named a country as the most dangerous place in the world for children. The report is based on a survey of children's lives in various countries around the world. Sudan was named the most dangerous place in the world for children because of the ongoing conflict in the country, which has led to the deaths of thousands of children and the displacement of millions more. The report also found that children in Sudan are at risk of being recruited into the armed forces and of being used as child soldiers. The UN is calling for an end to the conflict in Sudan and for the protection of children's rights.

Massacre, car bomb blasts kill 61 people in Baghdad

5 US soldiers charged in Iraq rape-murders

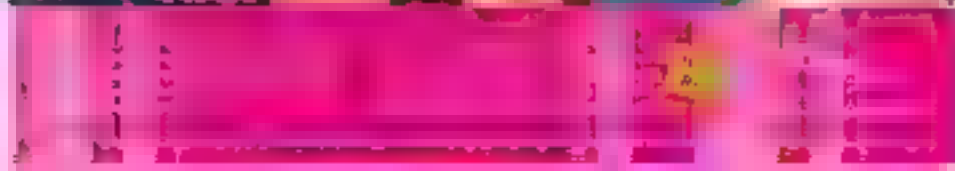

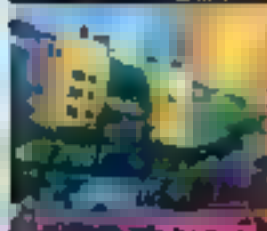

The Islamic Republic of Iran has announced that it has executed 100 people in a series of public hangings in the city of Qom. The hangings were carried out in the city's central square, and the victims were identified as members of the Islamic Revolutionary Guard Corps (IRGC). The IRGC is a paramilitary organization that is loyal to the Islamic Republic of Iran's Supreme Leader, Ayatollah Khamenei.

A large crowd of people gathered in a public square in Baghdad, likely following the massacre mentioned in the headline.

MANILA (Inquirer) — The peso's rally against the dollar in the first four months of 2004 has been a surprise to many market observers. The peso's value has risen from 50.80 to 52.12 to a dollar, a gain of more than 2 percent. The rally is attributed to the US Federal Reserve's decision to hold its benchmark rate at 5.25 percent, which has helped to stabilize the dollar and, in turn, the peso. The peso's rally is also seen as a reflection of the Philippines' strong economic performance in the first quarter of 2004, which saw a 4.2 percent growth in GDP.
